1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-12, 15, 16, and 21-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yoshihisa et al. Yoshihisa et al discloses solenoid valves 141 for cutting off refrigerant flow to the indoor units 143. The valves inherently act as noise preventors.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 13 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yoshihisa et al. Yoshihisa et al discloses the claimed invention except for the check valves. Check valves per se are well known, and thus to provide check valves in the system of Yoshihisa et al wherever needed or desired is considered to be an obvious expedient to one of ordinary skill in the art.

5. Claim 14 recites the limitation "the check valve" in lines 1 and 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. Claim 14 should depend from claim 13 instead of claim 11.

Art Unit: 3744

6. Claims 17-20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
